

ELEVATING
INSTRUCTIONAL PRACTICE
FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

March 28, 2019 | Rocky Hill

Connecticut Council for EDUCATION REFORM

Join us for this important conference where you will learn how to enhance your instructional programming to meet the needs of all learners and reach the expectations of 21st-Century standards.

Our keynote speaker, Dr. Barbara Blackburn, author of “Rigor is NOT a Four-Letter Word,” explains what instructional rigor is, discusses specific aspects of instruction that support rigor, and provides practical examples of rigorous instructional activities for the classroom.

In this conference you will:

- Learn how to enhance your instructional programming to meet the needs of all learners and reach the expectations of 21st-Century standards
- Hear from Connecticut educators who have found ways to scaffold instruction and increase student achievement

This program is geared toward District/School Teams—superintendents, assistant superintendents, curriculum coordinators, school leaders, instructional coaches, and teachers.

Attendance includes a continental breakfast and lunch.

Availability is limited, so please register early. There is a substantial discount if you register by Feb. 15.

CCER is hosting this conference in partnership with the Connecticut Association of Schools, the Connecticut Association of Public School Superintendents, and the Connecticut State Department of Education.

Questions? Contact Marian Hourigan (marian.hourigan@ctedreform.org; 203.530.9539).

ELEVATING INSTRUCTIONAL PRACTICE FOR STUDENT SUCCESS

Enhancing Instructional Programming and Improving Student Achievement

Thursday, March 28, 2019

WHEN & WHERE

Sheraton Hartford Hotel South
100 Capital Boulevard | Rocky Hill

Check-in: 8:30 am

Program: 9 am–3:30 pm

PRICE

Early Bird (before Feb 15): $50

Regular Admission: $75

Register at bit.ly/2HkO8rh